I own 197 acres of managed forest land in Yamhill County. I have recently retired after spending 30+ years working in real-estate and construction. I also worked several years for the Bureau of Land Management as a Forestry technician and worked on many forest fires during this time. I am interested in helping in any way with the protecting of Oregon's land and property from the ever-increasing risk of wildfire.

Rodney Jacobs represents Stimson Lumber Company, a landowner in Yamhill County where he currently manages the reforestation and fire protection work. Rodney runs wildland fire engines for Stimson in partnership with ODF on larger wildfires. He also burns slash and uses fire as a tool. Rodney is a volunteer with Banks Fire in Washington County and sometimes helps on wildland fire from that perspective.

Rodney is also the current Vice President of the Northwest Forest Protective Association. The Association is a mutual benefit corporation made up of landowners large and small within the Northwest Forest Protection Boundaries. Its primary objectives are the protection of forest resources within its territory and the achievement of effective communications with other organizations to ensure wise policy decisions affecting forest protection. The primary functions are to oversee and support the Oregon Department of Forestry in our fire protection efforts to protect private land and to share practices among landowners. They generally meet at the Forest Grove District office, and occasionally review field conditions together, such as fire activities and other protection issues. Membership is open to all landowners in the district.

I am a landowner and farmer Yamhill County. I farm ground off NW Westside road north of McMinnville and manage about 200 acres of timberland in the Moores Valley area. I am a volunteer firefighter with Carlton and have a fire engine for use on wildland fires. I've helped on wildland fires locally and been on large fires with the fire department in other parts of Oregon.
