What Education Means – The importance of strong learning backgrounds to our society today cannot be overstated. We have an increasingly technical and competitive global environment that our children have to thrive in. Without adequate education as a youth, adults are left with very few job options and a tough uphill battle to change that situation. There are many difficult life paths that happen and a good educational background means the ability to face those challenges with success.

Why the School Board – I have been an active volunteer at our schools for many years. I have volunteered at Dayton High School in the ASPIRE program mentoring seniors preparing to enter college. I have participated in Dayton School District's budget committee and district informational meetings. At Dayton Grade School I have participated in Site Council for four years and have worked with many wonderful educators there to address learning challenges in math, reading, and writing, to organize Science and Math nights, and as a volunteer in my children's classrooms weekly. I believe in the vision and the plans this school district has. I have the educational background and experience working in different schools to understand challenges in curriculum, budgeting, and student success. I am passionate about the future of kids and know I can have an impact on that through the school board.
